

Learn. Achieve. Inspire.

These three Ph.D.s from the colleges of Science, Engineering & Technology and Business & Management like to work with start-up, “new economy” companies that are global, electronically connected and socially responsible.

Put more simply, they only take on projects that plan to do good for the world, make money for the companies, and encourage SVSU students to be a part of it all.

Hands-on learning ... now and for a lifetime!
