

MEMORANDUM

TO: Ken Follett
FROM: Jay Coburn
DATE: December 13, 1982
RE: Additional Comments on The Third Draft

Overall, the personalities of the individuals came across realistic with the exception of one. Ralph Boulware was never as independent as he comes across in the book. This is probably due to his telling the story today and not being a part of EDS anymore. I guarantee you he did not tell the story that way while he was here. Don't get me wrong - Ralph is independent, just not to the degree he is portrayed in this draft.