The interior

There are a number of new faces in the college this year. Some of them have been announced, you have met many of them, but a few are so new that perhaps you haven't had the occasion. One isn't here yet.

Francis Adalberto Bernier is the new Director of Admissions. He'll be on campus September 7. Meantime he is busy completing his Doctoral Degree at Michigan State University, and visiting MSU and Western Michigan University Admissions Offices. He earned his Bachelor Degree at MSU and his Master's Degree at WMU. He had two years experience in admissions at WMU before returning to MSU for his Ph.D. work. He is married. His wife, Sandy, teaches French and Spanish, and was a member of the SVC faculty in 1967-68.

Robert Pratt is the new basketball coach. He earned his Bachelor Degree at Aquinas College where he played basketball; his Master's Degree at Bowling Green University, and his Doctoral Degree in physical education at Ohio State University. He's looking for at least one six-foot nine-inch basketball player, but will settle for any number between six-foot four and six-foot seven if you know of any.

Bob Becker introduced Paul Pingle, new manager of the food service, to you by memo earlier, so say hollow next time you're in Dean Center.

In case you remember the sea lion Phil Kumler kept in the Chemistry Department, we're sad to report that the thing escaped this summer and may never return.

The 16-inch telescope for the new observatory will be installed within the next few days.

We have an eight-minute slide show of SVC's past and present which is available to any of you if you're asked to present a program someplace and can use it. We'll show it to your classes if you desire. You can file your requests with Ida Freid.

Other new faces around the campus include:

Wallace T. Chase, Assistant Professor of Biology, comes to SVC from Corvalis, Ore., where he recently completed his Ph.D. from Oregon State University.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vajen of Midland, Assistant Professor of Nursing, earned a B.S. in Nursing and a M.S. in Health Education from Ohio State University.

William 'Tom' Hearn, Assistant Professor of English, received his Ph.D. from SUNY at Buffalo, and has been an instructor at the American University in Washington, D.C.

Don Hurd, resident counselor in the dorms, recently completed his MA in Guidance and Counseling from CMU where he is working on his Specialist's degree.

Mrs. Susan Hough of Saginaw, instructor in music, comes to SVC from California, where she earned her M.A. in Musicology at the University of California at Davis.
