Last Tuesday, the college's nursing students announced and displayed the caps which will be worn by graduates of the nursing program. The caps were chosen by a committee of students, and consist of two rows of starched white organdy ruffles separated by a red velvet ribbon. Graduates will overlay the red ribbon with the ribbon previously earned with completion of their RN degrees.

The caps were modeled by junior, Shirley Otto, and senior, Pam Wenzel. Caps were presented by junior, Joyce Graf, to nursing instructors Barb Sager and Elizabeth Vajen, and non-nursing instructors Phil Kumler, Dick Mock, and Walter Rathkamp.

Three members of the History Department participated in the 78th Annual Meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters on March 22 and 23 at Michigan State University. Robert Braddock, chairman of the Academy's History Section, designed the four-session program---Conflict in Colonial America, The Politics of Anti-Catholic Sentiment, Symposium on St. Thomas Aquinas, and Rugged Individualism in American Life---based on papers submitted by section members. John Jezierski read his paper, "Intra-Colony Conflict: Massachusetts and the Union Dilemma of 1753-1755," and Bill Hoffman read his paper, "The Public Land Policy of Andrew Jackson." Papers are submitted to the Michigan Academician, for consideration for publication.

Carol Norman, a junior majoring in psychology and management, will present an original research paper entitled "The Psychology of Sexual Differences" at the Spring 1974 Academic Conference of the Michigan Women's Studies Association, May 3 and 4. The conference is sponsored by the University of Michigan-Flint and Charles S. Mott Community College.

Zeller Robertson's article, "Four Views of Costa Rica," will be published in the May issue of the Journal of Inter-American Studies and World Affairs. In the article, he argues that studies on Latin America are not in the mainstream of modern political science.

George Humphrey of the U.S. Department of State will speak on "U.S. Foreign Policy, Management and Decision-Making" at 9 and 11 a.m., on Tuesday, March 26 in Room 234 of Wickes Hall. He will also be available from 1:30 to 3 p.m., in the Faculty Lounge, for discussion and to answer questions relating to entrance into the U.S. Foreign Service. Humphrey's visit to the area is co-sponsored by the Political Science Departments of Saginaw Valley College, Alma College, and Central Michigan University.

The Saginaw Valley Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association invites interested persons to attend their meeting on Tuesday, March 26, at the Menoma Park Hotel in Bay City.
