Bill Elliott has been named editor of the Tri-State Regional Business Law Newsletter. The Association, an organization of Business Law professors, covers Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. The newsletter will be produced at SVC. Elliott also spoke on "Family Law" at the Association's Annual Meeting at Eastern Michigan University. He presented techniques and courses used in teaching law to undergraduate students, a course developed at SVC. Elliott, who is chairman of an American Business Law Association Committee on the Economics of Business Law Professors, is conducting a national survey on the economic standings of all business law professors, totaling their salaries plus income from outside legal practices. His report on the survey will be made at the Association's National Convention at Bently College in Waltham, Massachusetts.

The Office of Continuing Education has helped arrange a conference for the Central Michigan Chapter of the Hospital Financial Management Association on Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26. John Broadfoot, Director of Continuing Education, expects 40 people to meet on campus from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Room 238.

The Chemistry Department has just completed its second "foremen's Academies" for the Dow Chemical Company of Midland. Dow has established the academy as a full-time course of study for foremen who are relieved of all plant responsibilities while attending classes. Chemistry, which is one of the courses in the Basic Fundamentals area included in the academy, is taught on the SVC campus. Berner Gorden and Albert Plausch have been instructors for the class which includes students of very diverse chemical backgrounds. Phil Kummer headed the development of the program, which has been co-sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education.

Eight graduating SVC students have been honored by various college departments for outstanding scholarship. The eight are: Janet M. Botz, sociology department; George R. Bousfield, biology department; Thomas R. Chisholm, College of Business Wall Street Journal Award; Michael D. Gebler, chemistry department; Stuart W. Hyvonen, political science department; Kermit Kranz, computer math department; Joyce Neubecker, mathematics department; and Lynn L. Reigle, accounting department.

The College of Business Administration announces two faculty positions for the term beginning August, 1974; and seeks candidates for the instruction of Accounting and Management. Rank and salary are negotiable, based on education and experience. Interested persons presently employed by SVC should contact Dick Bologna, ext. 266, no later than April 26.

The College of Education is accepting applications for the position of Director of Educational Services. Responsibilities include teaching in education and the development of an educational program at the Saginaw County Center for Delinquent and Neglected Youths. The position also includes responsibility for the supervision of SVC students working in the field. Salary is listed between $14,000-$18,000 per year. Qualifications: MA in social work or special education with certification in some area of special education; and experience in special education teaching, administration, and social work. Interested persons presently employed by SVC should contact Dick Bologna, ext. 266, no later than April 26.
The College of Health Sciences is seeking candidates for the position of Assistant Professor of Nursing. All candidates must have a BSN from an accredited institution. A degree in Public Health Nursing at the Master's level, i.e., MPH or MS in Public Health Nursing, or a MS in nursing with a major in Public Health Nursing and two to five years clinical experience and experience in teaching Public Health nursing is needed. Salary is negotiable. Interested persons presently employed by SVC should contact Dick Bologna, ext. 266, no later than April 26.