The college hosted a media dinner last night announcing plans for an athletic fund drive to raise $95,000. The money will be used for scholarships, equipment, supplies, and the costs of starting a football program. The campaign will begin on Tuesday, June 4, and will be concluded on Tuesday, July 2. Paul E. Wendler of Saginaw Steering Gear Division, GM, and former mayor of Saginaw, is chairman of the fund drive. He will be assisted by Sam H. Zutler, Dow Chemical Co.

SVC's first international exchange program becomes a reality this Friday noon, when 20 students leave the campus for Poulton-Le-Fylde College of Education in England. The group will travel by car to Toronto, and fly from there to England.

SVC is entering its second season of summer theatre. The theatre department will present the Fischer Troupe in "Music Hall Tonight!," a re-creation of a turn-of-the-century entertainment, at the Fischer Opera Haus in Frankenmuth. The refurbished building is located behind the Bavarian Inn.

Ron Kieft, who will stage and direct the performance, has decided to follow the format of the traveling troupes that played the country's opera houses during the 19th and 20th centuries. The performance will be in three parts: songs, dances, and comedy burlesques in Part I; a one-act farce in Part II; and either a showboat or park theme for Part III.

Doris Marsh is choreographer. Anna Marie Baumgarten is music director and accompanist. Scenic designer is John Malolepsy of U-M Flint. Preview performances will be held June 18 through 23. "Music Hall Tonight" will open on Tuesday, June 25, and will continue through August 10, with performances scheduled Tuesday through Sunday. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, with a 4 p.m. performance on Saturdays and Sundays. Admission prices are $2.75 for adults and $1.75 for children.
