CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. Benjamin Okwumabua will present a paper entitled "The Relationship Among Race, Socio-Economic Background and Job Attitudes" at the Midwest Academy of Management Association's meeting on April 25 in Ann Arbor.

The Bill to change our name to Saginaw Valley State College is now in the House of Representatives at Lansing, and passage is expected. The new name will require a few physical changes at the college, such as the installation of new letterheads and signs.

In readiness, the art students are competing in a contest to design a new logo, a design to represent the college. Judges for the contest are Dr. Curt McCray, Dr. Jack Ryder, Dr. Barron Hirsch, and Richard Spiller.

The Light of Experience, which studies the canvasses of the 17th Century Dutch painters and the development of great scientific instruments, will be shown this Thursday at 7 p.m. in Wickes Lecture Hall.

Strangers on a Train will be shown this Thursday at 10 p.m., Friday at 1 p.m., and Sunday at 8 p.m. at Wickes Lecture Hall.

Dave Schrader of Bay City was named Chemistry Outstanding Senior at the First Annual Chem Alumni Day February 12. He has a double major in chemistry and biology, and a minor in math.

CO-OP NOTES

The second Mid-Michigan Minority Professional Careers Conference will be held on campus April 29. Seven-hundred students from the seventh through twelfth grades will be attending the Conference; representing Saginaw, Bay City, Mt. Pleasant, Detroit, Flint, and Sault Ste. Marie. Gene Hamilton and Walter McKinnie of Dow Chemical Company, co-chairmen of the conference, expect 25-30 employers to attend the conference, bringing career representatives and employment opportunity displays.

Hamilton also reports that the college has 32 co-op students working at Dow Chemical Company in Data Processing and the Sciences.

SPORTS SHORTS

The winter sports season for the school's three varsity teams comes to an end this week. The men's basketball team, which holds a 9-20 record, will up its 30-game schedule on the home court against Aquinas College this Wednesday. The game will be dedicated to senior Jim Dwyer, playing his final Cardinal game.

(over)

The wrestling team will host the NAIA District 23 championships on Thursday, and hopefully qualify two freshmen for the NAIA National Tournament on March 6-8, in Souix City, Iowa. The women's basketball team will seek to avenge its only loss of the season when it hosts Oakland University this Friday. Coach Archy Robinson has termed the game "our tournament." The women's record is now 17-1.
