CAMPUS NOTES

Sixteen art students will display their work in the annual Fashion Square Mall Art Show from Friday, April 23 through Sunday, April 25. The show is sponsored by the Saginaw Art Museum. Participating students include: Rodney Bach, Linda Bedore, Hillar Bergman, Linda Cholcher, Valerie Fair, Archie Gittens, Mary Ann Hart, Sue Johnson, Georgina Kuberski, Charlie Robinson, Marybeth Schulz, Carole Stanuszek, David Stone, Mary Thomas, William Tyus, Jr., and Martha Yeatman.

Dr. John Jezierski, associate professor of history, has been awarded a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to attend a summer seminar at Yale University entitled "Verbal and Visual Texts: The Representation of the Revolution." Jezierski was one of twelve selected to attend the seminar, which will meet from mid-June to the end of August. He will study the status of the monarch in the midst of the 18th century revolutions, and how and if the image of the king changed in the 'verbal and visual' aspects of society—literature, music, art, sculpture, etc.

Curt McCray's essay, 'Kaptain Kronkite: The Myth of the Eternal Flame' was recently published in Television: The Critical View, a book of essays viewing television in various perspectives. McCray's essay is contained in the section in which the authors suggest that television has meaning in the culture because it is not an isolated, unique entity. McCray suggests that the notions of reality that each of us uses to understand television may not be so easily measured as we would wish. The essay was presented to the Popular Culture Association Convention in East Lansing in 1971. The book, which is edited by Horace Newcomb of the University of Maryland, is published by the Oxford University Press in New York.

Dr. Thomas Gillespie, professor of engineering and technology, will present a paper entitled "Application of Einstein's Theory to the Flow of Concentrated Suspensions" at the International Conference on Colloids and Surfaces on June 21 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. The conference is sponsored by the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry and the American Chemical Society.

Congressmen John Seiberling of Ohio and Lawrence Coughlin of Pennsylvania independently spoke for Dr. Brian Chow's study on breeder reactors in the House of Representatives, and entered their remarks in the Congressional Record. An editorial in Science News also commented favorably on his study.

Caps and gowns have arrived and are available in the bookstore. Graduation exercises will be held on Saturday, May 1, at 1:30 p.m. All faculty and staff who are participating are asked to be at the Gym by 12:45 p.m.

The graduation banquets will be held this week: School of Arts and Sciences, Thursday, April 22; School of Education and Divisions of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences, Public Services, and Engineering and Technology, Friday, April 23; and School of Business and Management, Saturday, April 24. All banquets will be held in Doan Center. Reservations are needed.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Thomas R. Root, director of the University of Minnesota marching band and the university's assistant director of bands, has been named director of the marching band and instructor of music at the college. Root is a composer and arranger with a wide reputation. He has arranged or assisted in the arrangement of all music used by the University of Minnesota's marching band. In addition, he has composed a number of original musical compositions. Root earned his bachelor of science and master of arts degrees from the University of Minnesota, and is currently studying composition at the Eastman School of Music, where he intends to finish work on a doctoral degree.

CONTINUING EDUCATION NOTES

Speed Reading, taught by Dr. Leslie Whittaker, professor of English and Education, will be offered beginning Monday, April 26 in Bay City and Wednesday, April 28 in Saginaw. Students who attend the four two-hour sessions will improve their reading or be refunded their tuition.

The college and Federal Mediation & Conciliation Service will co-sponsor How to Evaluate Grievances for Settlement without Arbitration on Monday, June 14 in the Theatre Building. The workshop will be based upon analysis of actual arbitration hearings between GTE Sylvania and UAW Region 1D; and the Jackson Board of Education and the Jackson Education Association. The hearings were video-taped live.

The International Childbirth Education Association and Parent Education Program are sponsoring a seminar on Saturday, May 8, in Doan Center. Margot Edwards, author, will speak on childbirth and parenting in a rapidly-changing world.

Survival and Camping will be offered beginning Tuesday, May 4. The ten-session course will be taught by Thomas R. Call, Jr., a 1974 graduate of the college and a teacher in the Bay City Public School System. The course is designed to teach the novice woodsman how to feel relatively comfortable and capable of surviving in the woods.

Contact John R. Broadfoot, director of Continuing Education, for further information on any of the above courses.
