SVSC FIBERART SHOW FEATURES 10 ARTISTS

Self-expression takes many forms and one of the newest ways will be displayed by 10 area artists at an invitational exhibition entitled "Fiber Directions. 1978" on campus.
The Monday, September 25 through Friday, October 6 exhibition will be showing of fresh new ideas, highlighting the many ways that the artists express themselves using fibers.

Fiberart is the use of materials such as yarn, rope, paper, fabric, or felt to create works with various textures and dimensions.

"Fiberart began with weaving, but has grown into various other areas and now runs the whole gamut from matting to plied rope," says Martha Yeatman, SVSC art department faculty member and exhibition coordinator. "This promises to be a colorful and rather surprising show, because fiberart is such an invigorating media."

The 10 outstanding fiberists whose work will be shown are all from the Tri-Cities area. They were selected by their fine work, awards, and exhibit records and include: Jo Bachelier, Bay City; Roz Berlin, Saginaw; Pat Bon, Midland; Joan Catacosinos, Bay City; Norma Keeley, Midland; Lynn Mayne, Saginaw; Linda Menger, Midland; Kathy Reitz, Midland; Bernice Sizemore, Midland; Mary Van Tuyle, Bay City.

The exhibit may be viewed weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the SVSC Art Workshop Gallery, located in the '68 Building. There will be formal opening on Monday, September 25 at 7:30 p.m. to introduce the artists.

STARGAZERS TO VIEW GREAT BEYOND

Stargazers from across the Saginaw Valley will be able to view the stars and other celestial bodies Friday evenings this fall without charge. Each Friday between Sept. 22 and December 8, except for the November 24 Thanksgiving weekend, an open house is planned from 7 to 11 p.m. The Observatory is located on Pierce Road.

Dr. Frank H. S. Chen, associate professor of physics and Observatory director, will be on hand to operate the College's domed 16-inch Schmidt-Cassegrain reflector telescope for the public. Amateur astronomers are welcome to bring their telescopes to the Observatory and receive explanations of what they are viewing.

Refreshments will be served and astronomy movies will occasionally be shown, particularly when weather discourages telescope observations. The general public is welcomed to participate.

SVSC TO COMMEMORATE WARSAW UPRISING

The 34th Anniversary of the heroic uprising by members of the Polish Underground Resistance at Warsaw against the Nazis will be commemorated on Friday, October 6 at 7 p.m. in the SVSC Theatre. Sponsored by the Institute of Polish Studies, the event will bring two noted Polish historians to campus.

Dr. Anna Maria Cienciala, professor of history at the University of Kansas, will describe the 63-day siege from the Allies' point of view. Dr. Walter M. Drzewieniecki, professor of history at State University of Buffalo, will tell about the Underground Resistance from the point of view of the insurgents. Both will provide documentary evidence rather than fiction.

Dr. Cienciala will describe the attitude of the Allies including the British, Russians, and Americans. Although Stalin was trying to defeat the Germans, he was also trying to get rid of the Polish Underground so Russia could take over Poland after the war. He thus told both American President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill not to intervene and they did not because both thought Stalin was stronger than he actually was.

Members of Drzewieniecki's family were part of the Underground Resistance, which was organized just two weeks after the fall of Warsaw in 1939. Its activities bothered Hitler so much that in April 1940 he organized a special department to oppose their efforts. However, the Underground was lean, dedicated, and well-disciplined and thus played a major factor in opposing the Germans until the end of the war.

On August 1, 1944, the Warsaw Home Army began a two-month uprising against the Germans. Although they were ultimately defeated, historians feel they were victorious because of their spirit.

There is no admission charge for the program and tickets will not be required.
