FALL ENROLLMENTS UP AT SVSC

Fall semester student count and credit hour registrations have set new highs, continuing SVSC's ten-year string of annual enrollment increases. A 1.6 percent hike in student numbers from 4,355 in 1981 to 4,426 this year runs counter to a declining trend in recent years at several sister institutions.

Student credit hours are also up 1.7 percent to a record of 41,647 compared with 40,942 credit hours for fall 1981. The enrollment increases come at a time when reduced state support for higher education is making it extremely difficult for SVSC and other institutions to balance their budgets.

College President Jack M. Ryder said he viewed the continued rise in SVSC's student body as an indication that the college will weather the state's current economic crisis and emerge as a strong institution.

"We are in a unique position," said Ryder. "Unlike many colleges across the state, we expect to grow in the next five to ten years. We are in a population center of 450,000 where higher education has not always been available. People who work here are now completing degrees or taking coursework to prepare for career changes."

Ryder also pointed out that SVSC has developed programs to serve a market which views learning as a lifelong experience. "We have classes from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., offering a flexible schedule for mature adults who combine education with a part-time or full-time job," he concluded.

Final fall tallies show a sharp increase in transfer students. Registrations in this category are up 11 percent from a year ago, indicating a trend for more students to live at home and commute to a nearby college. However, there was a decrease of 15 entering freshmen, reflecting a reduction in the 18-year-old population.

College administrators noted increased interest in specific academic areas, particularly computer science and mathematics. They reported more requests for additional seats in these classes than in any previous year. Sections were added and filled in some of the most popular courses, indicating that demand is still unmet.

SVSC dormitories are again filled to capacity, with a waiting list of students seeking on-campus housing. Some of the overflow has been accommodated in nearby Delta College residence halls, while other students have found private housing in the area.

SVSC GETS 'SIGNAL'

College administrators received word last week that the state legislature has approved an appropriation of $100,000 to complete working plans and begin construction of IF 2. Along with a previous gift of $1,000,000 from the Wickes Foundation, the funding would enable SVSC to finish drawings, let bids and begin construction of the long-awaited library/classroom complex. Building completion would depend upon further state appropriations in upcoming years.

SVSC President Jack M. Ryder sees the appropriation as recognition by the state that construction of IF 2 is necessary. "This $100,000 is a signal that when economic conditions get better we will be able to move ahead with the facility," Ryder said. "Obviously it's a token amount, but the important thing is the principle which is being established."

The bill now awaits the Governor's signature. Milliken must act within 10 days to approve or veto the package, which includes similar recommendations for capital outlay projects at seven other state colleges.

"NUCLEAR AGE" SPEAKERS PRESENT CONTRASTING VIEWS

Presentations by Dr. Bernard L. Cohen of the University of Pittsburgh and anti-nuclear activist/journalist Harvey Wasserman highlighted the week-long series examining "The Nuclear Age: Issues and Concerns." Both men spoke to small but interested audiences and fielded many questions.

Cohen's September 22 lecture centered on problems related to public understanding of nuclear power and radiation. He claimed that lack of scientific background coupled with sensationalistic coverage by the press have led to distorted views of radiation and the potential for a meltdown. Cohen contended that health effects of radiation are a purely scientific issue. Responding to Cohen's lecture were Dr. Suk Koo (Tom) Yun, professor of physics, and Dr. Thomas Hearron, associate professor of English.

On Thursday night Harvey Wasserman told the audience they have the right to know the effects of radiation and make decisions concerning use of nuclear power and arms. He felt that the public had been deceived by government, military leaders and power companies concerning safe levels of radiation, and contended the deceptions had been injurious to many people. Commenting on Wasserman's presentation were Dr. Alis-tair Brett, dean of science, engineering and technology; and Dr. Terry Ishihara, professor of mechanical engineering.

FRIENDS OF POLISH CULTURE AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships have been awarded to two area students for study at SVSC's Institute of Polish Studies during the 1982-83 academic year. Named to receive grants from the Saginaw Valley Friends of Polish Culture were Nancy Krawczak, 1130 Cranbrook, and Timothy Strasz, 2325 N. River, both of Saginaw.

Krawczak, a freshman, plans a minor in Polish studies. In requesting the scholarship, she noted that her interest is rooted in a strong Polish heritage. "SVSC is the only school in the area to offer an extended program in the Polish field."

"SVSC IS THE ONLY SCHOOL IN THE AREA TO OFFER AN EXTENDED PROGRAM IN THE POLISH FIELD."
Krawczak said, "I have had an interest in my heritage for many years, and with this scholarship I will be able to continue in Polish studies."

Strasz also listed interest in his Polish heritage as a reason for taking classes in Polish culture. In addition he stressed the importance of recognizing international interdependency. "It is the duty of every American who wishes to make an intelligent decision at the ballot box to have a good understanding of foreign affairs," Strasz believes.

Krawczak and Strasz are the first recipients of scholarships through the program established by Friends of Polish Culture this summer. Selection committee member Dr. Cezary Mendelius notes that SVFPC expects to award three additional scholarships this winter. For information about applying, please call the Institute of Polish Studies at ext. 4315.

MENDELIUS NAMED ACTING DIRECTOR OF INSTITUTE OF POLISH STUDIES

Dr. Cezary Mendelius has been named Acting Director of the Institute of Polish Studies, effective immediately. The appointment was announced recently by Dr. William K. Barnett, dean of arts and behavioral sciences.

Mendelius came to SVSC last year as an guest professor through our exchange program with the University of Poznan in Poland. He and his family currently reside in Saginaw and are seeking permanent U.S. residence.

After earning baccalaureate and advanced degrees from A. Mickiewicz University in Poland, Mendelius taught for several years at the University of Poznan. In 1973-74 he was a research associate at the State University of New York at Buffalo. His degrees are in English studies, linguistics and methodology of language teaching, and he has experience in sociolinguistics and language survey methodology.

Mendelius will be organizing and implementing Institute activities for the balance of fall semester, plus planning winter semester course offerings and events.

FRENCH, AUSTRALIAN FILMS IN OCTOBER

From a hilarious look at the seven-year itch to a drama detailing a disastrous battle in World War I, the Valley Film Society's selections for October once again offer classic international films.

Friday, October 1, the 1977 comedy "Pardon Mon Affaire" looks at the adventures of four friends dealing with the seven-year itch.

Action moves through the streets and into the bedrooms of Paris. The subtitled film is directed by Yves Robert, one of France's greatest comic directors.

"Gallipoli," a 1981 Australian film, will be shown on Friday, October 15. It is based on events when Australian troops attacked a remote Turkish outpost in World War I. The ill-fated battle resulted in the resignation of Britain's navy chief. Peter Weir directs the film, which features Mark Lee and Mel Gibson.

Both movies start at 8:00 p.m. in Wickes lecture hall. Adult memberships in the society are available at the door for $17.50, and student or trial memberships are only $5. For more information about the society, please call Tom Hearon at ext. 4332.

WALPOLE TO SPEAK AT SVSC

Robert Walpole, senior vice president of Walbro, Incorporated will speak on "Japanese Management Practices" next Monday, October 4. Walpole will draw upon personal experiences to discuss Japanese management style and its implications for U.S. businesses. The 2:30 p.m. lecture is set for Wickes Hall faculty lounge. Sponsored by SVSC's International Studies Committee, it is open to all interested SVSC personnel and students. For more information, please call Dr. Ricardo Pastor at ext. 4486.

AREA NURSE MOVES FROM TEST TAKING TO TEST WRITING

As a nursing student at SVSC and Mott Community College, Ruby N. Hudson of Flint answered her share of exam questions. Now she's on the other side of the desk, preparing questions for other nurses who seek licensure from the State Board of Nursing. Hudson, presently a practical nursing instructor at MCC, has been selected to represent Michigan on the exam writing panel for the National Council of State Boards of Nursing Inc. The panel will prepare questions for the 1982 Practical Nursing Licensure Examination, which is given nationwide to nursing graduates as a requirement for professional practice. Hudson will help form multiple-choice questions for the pediatric nursing section of the four-part test.

An active member of the Michigan Black Nurses Association, Hudson works part time as a staff nurse at Hurley Medical Center in addition to her teaching duties for MCC. She was recently selected by her peers to be included in the first edition of "Who's Who Among Contemporary Nurses."

Dr. Crystal Lange, dean of SVSC's school of nursing and allied health sciences, is pleased but not surprised by Hudson's success. "Ruby is typical of the outstanding students who have graduated from SVSC's nursing program," said Lange. "Our students have consistently scored well above the national average on licensure exams, and many of them hold responsible positions in the community.

"Like Ruby, a number of our graduates continue to have an active interest in SVSC's nursing curriculum and give constructive suggestions for strengthening our program," Lange concluded.

SVSC PROFS CO-AUTHOR SAGINAW WALKING TOUR

Dr. Thomas Hearrion, associate professor of English, and Dr. John Jezierski, professor of history, have pooled their talents to ducing the project.

The tour consists of two loops, one covering "Old Saginaw City," and the other traversing Heritage Square. Loop A takes participants though the commercial district of Old Saginaw City. It includes areas where mills, stores, bars and hotels welcome the lumberjacks. Loop B meanders down tree-shaded streets of stately homes built by the lumber barons and merchants of Old Saginaw. Each loop can be covered in
