ORIENTAL ART SALE AT SVSC

It isn't every day that people can view original oriental artwork dating back to the 18th and 19th centuries, let alone buy it. SVSC will offer that opportunity at a show from 12:00 noon to 8:00 p.m. Monday, October 11 in the college library.

The exhibition is presented by Marson Ltd. of Baltimore, a firm specializing in collecting and selling oriental art. Numbering about 800 pieces, the show includes work from Japan, China, India, Tibet and Thailand. Among the oldest prints are Japanese woodcuts, Indian miniatures and manuscripts with master works by Hiroshige, Kuniyoshi and Kunisada.

Modern pieces will feature original woodcuts, etchings, lithographs, serigraphs and mezzotints by such noted artists as Saito, Azechi, Mori and Maki.

According to Marson personnel, the prints will be shown in an informal atmosphere and the price range will be wide enough to make pieces affordable for nearly every budget. Browsers are welcome.

ANNUAL EVENT IS HEALTHY AFFAIR

SVSC's annual health fair was well attended last Wednesday as many students and visitors made use of free testing and information available. Some were alerted to potential problems in hearing and high blood pressure, while others were reassured they were within safe limits.

Health Services coordinator Sandy Wight was especially pleased with the turnout for the blood drive, with over 60 pints collected by closing time. "Today we collected over twice as much blood as we have in previous drives," Wight said.

Don Paquin (r), assistant director of respiratory therapy at St. Mary's Hospital, explains the use of a chest vibrator and other equipment and techniques to students Bill Case (l) and Jim Terry. Case, 21, a junior medical technology major, is the son of William and Bessie Case of Standish. Terry, 19, a sophomore biology major, is the son of Richard and Shirley Terry, 3154 Woodland in Saginaw.

CLASSES IN CALLIGRAPHY OFFERED AT SVSC

Persons interested in learning or improving skills in Italic hand lettering can choose from beginning or intermediate courses offered by SVSC this fall. "Introduction to Calligraphy" will meet from 10:00 a.m. to noon for seven Tuesdays beginning October 12. "Refinement in Italics," designed for students with some background in calligraphy, is set for 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday evenings beginning October 14. Both courses are open to the public, and admission to SVSC is not required.

Joan Schroeder will be teaching the classes. She holds a degree in art from Whitworth College, Spokane, Washington, and did graduate work at the Minneapolis College of Art and Design. Her work has been exhibited in Minnesota, California and Michigan, and she has received instruction in calligraphy from Donald Jackson, royal calligrapher for Queen Elizabeth.

According to Schroeder, the goal of her introductory class is to study the basics of calligraphy, including history, letter shapes and forms. "Students will also learn to center lettering on the page, plus beginning design and layout skills," she said.

"In the 'Refinement' class students will work on Italics, starting with letters and working toward several completed projects. Technique will be perfected as much as possible, and the history of calligraphy will be examined," Schroeder concluded.

Pre-registration for the classes is advised and may be arranged by calling the SVSC fine arts secretary weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. at ext. 4159.

SVSC OFFERS TRAVEL COURSE

Travelers often say that visiting abroad is an educational experience, so SVSC is planning a tour to Spain. The trip is open to the community and will cover more than the usual quick stops at tourist attractions. Participants will have the option of earning up to three semester hours of credit.

Stops include two days in Madrid to view important monuments, the Pardo Museum and the Royal Palace. A day is scheduled in Toledo to observe characteristic examples of Spanish civilization. Next stop is Cordoba, birthplace of the philosopher Seneca. It is also the home of "Mezquita," well-known example of mudejar architecture.

Sevilla offers exploration of the Cathedral. Giralda, the Alcazar and its gardens and the Santa Cruz quarters. Granada with its Red Citadel of the Palace and Generalife Gardens is next, followed by a visit to Torremolinos.

Capping the tour is a day on the beaches of Costa Del Sol. Registration for the trip will be conducted during October. For more information on the tour or obtaining college credit, please contact Dr. Ricardo Pastor by calling ext. 4486.

TEXTBOOK REQUEST FORMS DUE

Bookstore manager Betty Wineland has announced that textbook request forms for winter semester classes are in the mail to all full-time faculty and department chairmen. Deadline for returning adoption information to the bookstore is Friday, October 15.

Wineland notes that faculty desiring cost estimates for their textbooks may have that information if requested from the bookstore no later than October 15. "We are interested in keeping textbook expenses as low as possible for students," Wineland said, "and we'll work with faculty to achieve that goal." She pointed out that early textbook requests can be processed through wholesale book vendors for used copies which sell at a 25 percent discount.

"Students begin asking for winter textbooks right after Thanksgiving," Wineland reminded. "If we have adoption information by October 15, books should be available for sale by that time."

LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOK DONATION

SVSC's library has received a donation of books from Dr. Raymond Tyner, professor of English. Included in the gift were 15 volumes of poetry published by the Green River Press; four issues of the "Green River Review" to complete the library file; and a complete set of "International Poetry Review," vols. 1-7, 1975-81.

Accepting the publications, interim Library Director Dorothy Horwath noted they "are a valued contribution to the Library/Learning Resources Center. Their content reflects the resolution, dedication, love of poetry and persistent labors of individuals who were involved in the endeavors," she said.

The library plans to display the Green River Press books in its showcases during the month of October.

THANKSGIVING HOMES STILL NEEDED

Families willing to share Thanksgiving dinner with an international student are still needed, according to Dr. Ricardo Pastor. To date, only a few families have volunteered to help make the American holiday special for a guest who is far away from home.

According to Pastor, the project has benefits for both the host and the guest. "When these students return home, they will take with them a relationship which will help achieve better international understanding," he said. "Furthermore, the host family will have an opportunity to learn more about a foreign culture."

Persons interested in sharing their home with an international guest are asked to contact Pastor at ext. 4486.

WRITING WORKSHOP SCHEDULED AT CMU

SPORTS REPORT

SVSC's tennis record now stands at 6-3 overall, 3-3 in league play after a win over Northwood and losses to Wayne State and Ferris last week. The Lady Cards bounced back from a 5-4 loss to WSU last Tuesday to take Northwood 9-0 Wednesday. Ferris swept the doubles action Friday to post a 5-4 win over SVSC. Nancy Kohler and Theresa Buchholz continued to pace the Cardinals in singles action, while Kohler paired with Cathy Midcalf and Buchholz joined Laura Hackman in doubles competition. The next meet is against Northwood this Sunday.

In football, SVSC lost to Hillsdale, making it 0-4 for the season. The Chargers quickly demonstrated why they are the No. 2 ranked NAIA team in the nation. There were bright spots for the Cards, however, including a 41 yard punting average for senior Kevin Zott and good defensive efforts by strong safety Joe Iaquaniello, cornerback Howard Harrison and linebacker Steve Zuchnick. Head Coach Jim Larkin is hoping to break into the win column next week when SVSC takes on Michigan Tech.

Spence Peterson and Ed LaBair turned in times of 25:18 and 25:45 respectively to place 24th and 46th in the Notre Dame Invitational in cross country action last week. The meet was marred by numerous heat-related incidents, according to SVSC coach Douglas E. Hansen. Grand Valley Invitational is next on the SVSC harriers' schedule.

INSURANCE DATA NEEDED

The Metropolitan Insurance Census Data form sent to employees covered under that insurance carrier should have been returned to the Personnel Office by Monday, October 4. According to Personnel Director Larry K. Fitzpatrick, only 50 percent of these forms have been received to date. "If you have not sent us your completed form, please turn it in to Personnel immediately," Fitzpatrick asked.
