"WILEY AND THE HAIRY MAN" SCHEDULED AS SVSC'S WINTER THEATRE PRODUCTION

A colorful southern folktale dealing with a boy who puts aside his psychological crutches, faces up to his fears and conquers them, is the theme of SVSC's Winter theatre production. "Wiley and the Hairy Man" will premiere March 23 and 24 at the SVSC Theatre.

The main character, Wiley, is a young boy who creates a magical boogiemán that he blames for the death of his father, and that he now feels is after him. "He done got my pappy and he's trying to get me." The Hairy Man is a combination of monster, giant and fool.

The only things standing between the Hairy Man and Wiley are his dog and his mother. The Hairy Man hates dogs. Wiley's mother, like the Hairy Man, has magical powers. They discover it's possible to get rid of the Hairy Man by tricking him three times. What follows is an amusing story of how Wiley tries to fool the Hairy Man.

Dr. Janet Rubin, director of the play, chose the Susan Zeder folk story in an effort to compensate for the loss of children's theatre caused by budget cutbacks in local public schools. As a part of this idea, area elementary schools have been invited to a special set of reserved matinees March 21 and 22, and from March 25 through 29. SVSC's theatre department reports an enthusiastic response to the invitation with more than 1,630 reservations already in. This will set an attendance record for SVSC theatre.

The role of Wiley is played by Michael Martin of Bay City. Mark Cornillie is featured as the Hairy Man. Kimberly Scott, a sophomore, plays Mammy. Wiley's dog is played by Ric Roberts, a freshman studying theatre and music. Filling chorus roles are Darren McVeigh, Angela Niedzwiecki, Kirsten Smitley and Zachary Turner.

The first show open to the public is Saturday, March 23 at 8 p.m. On Sunday, March 24 there will be shows at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tickets are $1 for for SVSC staff, and advance reservations are encouraged. For additional information or reservations, please contact the SVSC department of communication and theatre at ext. 4110.

Mammy (Kimberly Scott) performs a conjure for Wiley (Michael Martin).

NON-STOP POETIC CABARET AT SVSC

There's nothing unusual about presenting the works of famous authors at a creative arts festival. The exception is when these 'famous' authors happen to include "Anonymous" and "Unknown," who plan to read their own work!

The Non-Stop Poetic Cabaret is an annual creative arts festival put on by college students who operate the "Valley Vanguard" and "Cardinal Sins." It is, according to organizer Beth Medley, "a celebration of art in all its forms: visual, aural, and oral." This year's celebration takes place Wednesday, March 27, from 11:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. in the lower level of Doan Center.

Musical highlights include eight-hand piano work, a vocal quartet, and the Collegium Musicum playing Renaissance music on instruments appropriate to the era. A student will perform selections from a musical he is writing, and two live bands will play.

The works of several authors will be presented, including Mark Twain, prominent women poets and in a coup, the greats Anonymous and Unknown reading their own work. Some Old English will be read, and students from the creative writing classes will present their work. There also is open microphone time, and a writing workshop will be conducted.

Other highlights include a defense of contemporary poetry, the Cardinal Sins writing contest awards, a dance routine, and mock awards. Artwork will be displayed, and persons will have the chance to do some creating of their own.

All performances will be by members of the campus community only. Admission is free. For a schedule of activities, call Beth Medley at ext. 4248.

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION WORKSHOP SET

The campus community is invited to join area employers and educators at a cooperative education workshop on Tuesday, March 26 in lower level Doan Center.

The workshop will explore the advantages of starting a program or expanding an existing one. Professionals who have experimented successfully with cooperative education will share information and advice through presentations and open discussion.

Donna Fryer, cooperative education and placement coordinator for Saginaw Douglas MacArthur High School, will present "Secondary Co-op Education Programs - Program of the Future." She will be followed by Don Hunt, dean emeritus from the University of Detroit. Hunt will offer a lecture titled "National Ad Campaign for Cooperative Education."

After a short pause, workshop participants will hear from Penny Thornton, a representative from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company; Ted Nitz, SVSC counselor; and SVSC student Bill Psetas. Their topic will be "Employing the Physically Disadvantaged Student."

A luncheon presentation will be made by Margaret Bugg, manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) in Saginaw, and Sandra St. Cyr, also from the Saginaw MESC office. Bugg and St. Cyr will discuss employment stability through co-op education.

Leslie Echols and Ruth Moore, personnel representatives from Central Foundry Division of General Motors, will provide the final presentation on "Achieving Affirmative Action and Employment Goals with a Cooperative Education Program."

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., with sessions starting at 9:00 a.m., and concluding at 2:30 p.m. Cost for the program is $15, which includes lunch and all workshop materials. Make reservations by Thursday, March 21 by phoning ext. 4291.

HIGH FIVE

A superb effort by the Lady Cardinal basketball team was not enough to win the NAIA National Women's Basketball Championship on Saturday. A 12-foot baseline jumper by three-time All-American Kelly Litsch netted a 55-54 victory for Southwestern Oklahoma. The basket came with one second left on the 30-second shot clock with SVSC defenders swarming all over her. The championship was Southwestern's third in four years, and one coach John Loftin called "by far the toughest. Saginaw had the best overall team in the tournament, and we feel lucky to win."

Saginaw Valley held a game-high 24-16 lead, but Southwestern made a run to close the gap to one, 27-26, at the half. The score was tied 11 times, and the lead changed hands 18 times. Beverly Sanders, who scored 19 points, needed just two points entering the game to set a school career scoring record that she now owns with 1,922 points. Gail Kubiak scored 9 points, and Sophia Yarger, Gail Goestenkers and Veronica Ruff had 8 apiece. SVSC, ranked number two in the nation for the entire season, finished with a 32-1 record.

In the semi-final, SVSC set two NAIA team records in a 71-33 (no) contest against Midland Lutheran (Neb.). The 33 points is the lowest point total scored ever in the tournament, and the 38-point margin was the largest ever. On Thursday SVSC eliminated Northeastern Illinois 82-62, and in the opening round on Wednesday pulled away in the final seven minutes from Bluefield State, W.V., 69-54.
