SVSC RECEIVES ELECTRON MICROSCOPE FROM DOW CORNING

Students at SVSC soon will be able to examine the interior of materials they are testing, thanks to the generosity of the Dow Corning Corporation. Dow Corning has donated a transmission electron microscope to the College.

The equipment, capable of creating greatly magnified images of objects under examination, was officially transmitted to the college on Friday, September 27. Kermit Campbell, vice president for personnel, communications and public affairs for Dow Corning, presented the microscope to SVSC President Jack M. Ryder and Dean of the School of Science, Engineering and Technology, Thomas E. Kullgren.

According to Kullgren, donation of the equipment to SVSC was facilitated by a part-time instructor, William Albe. A Dow Corning employee, Albe was aware of the machine's availability and was instrumental in arranging for its transfer to SVSC.

Randal S. Hostetler, science laboratory technician, student employee Hans Kummerle, and Gordon Wing, a part-time instructor at SVSC, dismantled the microscope and transported it to the college. It will be reassembled and installed in a room specially designed for housing electron microscopes when the new science building is completed.

President Ryder noted that college officials were very pleased to receive the microscope. "This equipment is a significant contribution that, along with a Cambridge Mark II microscope recently given us by Saginaw Division, will provide learning and research opportunities for our students and faculty in engineering and the sciences."

Both microscopes are equipped with cameras that enable them to photograph the highly magnified materials under examination. Kullgren said the two complement each other, since one is capable of surface examination, while the microscope from Dow Corning allows for internal examination of materials.

The science building that will house the microscopes is expected to be the first completed subunit of a $28 million classroom/office/library complex currently under construction at SVSC.

Dow Corning officials and SVSC personnel inspect a computer-aided design system that was donated by Dow Corning, along with an electron microscope. Present at the briefing were Kermit Campbell, Edward Steinhoff, Robert Bott, Wallace Dyste, and James Chittak from Dow Corning. Also on hand from SVSC were Dr. Jack Ryder, Dr. Thomas Kullgren, Eldon Graham and Dr. Enayat Mahajerin.
SVSC TOUR COMBINES EDUCATION, RECREATION

SVSC is offering a repeat of its popular spring tour of Spain. The trip, open to the campus community, is scheduled for the first week in March, 1986.

According to Dr. Ricardo Pastor, tour organizer, the trip has been well received because it adds an educational dimension to recreation. "Participating have the opportunity to learn about the art and culture of Spain, as well as view popular tourist attractions," he said. "In fact, those who desire may earn academic credit by paying tuition and enrolling for one to three credits in Humanities 355." Tuition costs are in addition to the travel fee paid by all participants.

Travelers will spend nine days in six of Spain's best-known cities between March 1 and 9, 1986. Cost of the tour is $995, including round trip air fare from Tri-City Airport, continental breakfast and lunch or dinner each day, transportation in Spain, tour guides, medical insurance and service charges.

A non-stop flight from New York will arrive in Madrid on Saturday, March 1. A welcoming dinner that evening features music by strolling minstrel singers. Stops during the three-day stay in Madrid include Plaza Cibeles, Puerta del Sol and Plaza de Espana.

Next on the itinerary is an "Artistic City Tour" with visits to the Royal Palace, the Prado Museum and the main avenues of Madrid. Later, in Toledo tour participants can observe examples of Spanish civilization and see the famous Toledo cathedral.

Excursions to the 16th century monastery of El Escorial and to "Valley of the Fallen," a monument to those who died in the Spanish Civil War, also are scheduled. There is a stop at Cordoba, birthplace of the philosopher Seneca and the home of "Mezquita," an example of mudéjar architecture.

A trip to Sevilla will include visits to the Cathedral, the Giralda, the Alcazar and its gardens, the Santa Cruz Quarters and Maria Luisa Park. The tour ends with a day of swimming, sunbathing and leisure at Costa del Sol.

Those who find the trip too short may extend their stay and return on a later flight with no added charge for air fare, according to Pastor. "Approximate costs for lodging, breakfast and dinner would be $25 per day for those staying on," he said.

Pastor encourages persons interested in the tour to call him in SVSC's department of modern foreign languages by phoning ext. 4486. Detailed itineraries are available, and advance registrations are required.

TIMES AND PLACES: SEE SCHEDULE ON OTHER SIDE

SVSC has held membership with the Office of Federal Programs, American Association of State Colleges and Universities since 1971. Still there are many people on campus who are not aware of the role OFF/AASCU plays in supporting SVSC's efforts in Sponsored Programs.

The primary mission of both OFF/AASCU and the Office of Sponsored Programs is to serve the SVSC Community assisting in the acquisition of external support for projects. The series of meetings and workshops will have the following objectives:

1. Provide an overview of funding opportunities with federal agencies.

2. Provide information on how the services provided by both AASCU and the Office of Sponsored Programs can be mobilized to assist members of the SVSC Community in obtaining financial support for projects.

3. Obtain information on how both OFF/AASCU and the Office of Sponsored Programs can tailor services to meet the specific needs of the individuals at SVSC.

Any interested member of the SVSC Community is invited to attend any of the school meetings which have been scheduled throughout the day of October 10th.
