PRESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT CHOSEN

Dr. John A. Fallon, III, of Muncie, Indiana, has been named Assistant to the President and Secretary to the Board of Control. His appointment is effective July 15.

Fallon's responsibilities include serving as advisor to the president on all matters. He also will assist and advise in the organization, management and functioning of the president's office and will share with the president responsibility for legislative relations.

In addition, Fallon will provide support services for the College's Board of Control and will oversee management of the office of information services.

Fallon's selection was made from a nationwide pool of applicants. He was extensively interviewed by a search committee comprised of college personnel and members of the Board of Control.

Prior to joining SVSC, Fallon, 40, was employed at Ball State University in Muncie, where he handled multiple assignments for the president and provost as well as serving as director of Ball State's Institute for Business & Economic Development Services. He has 13 years' experience in higher education, beginning with an assignment for the National Center for Community Education in Flint. He also served as director of community education for Community Unit School District No. 205 of Galesburg, Illinois, from 1970-72.

A native of Michigan, Fallon earned a bachelor of science degree from Western Michigan University, a master of arts degree from Northern Michigan University and his doctorate from Michigan State University. He is certified as a secondary education teacher.

DR. JOHN A. FALLON, III

Fallon holds numerous professional memberships and has served on the boards of the National Community Education Association and the Mid-America Community Education Association. He conducted more than 500 courses, workshops and conferences on economic development, community education, personal growth and development, grantsmanship, long-range planning, public relations, management and research.

His publications include 18 articles, two book reviews, 10 research reports and three regular feature columns. He also has five books in various stages of preparation for publication.

Fallon is the recipient of numerous awards, including the E.L. Miller Scholarship, the Mott Clinical Preparation Program for Educational Leaders Fellowship, the National Center for Community Education Fellowship and the Illinois State Jaycee Physical Fitness award. He was named Illinois Outstanding Jaycee of the Year and was on the list of Outstanding Young Men of America for three years. He is listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest" and received the Governor's Community Service Award (Indiana). Dr. Fallon and his wife, Sidney Lynn, have four children.

"We are very pleased to have Dr. Fallon join our administrative team at this important time in the life of the College," President Jack M. Ryder said. "His extensive experience in public and higher education will be especially helpful in his service to the Board of Control and the president's office."

Fallon replaces Dr. Gary W. Davis, who left SVSC in October 1986 to become executive director of the Illinois Community College Trustees Association.

FEELING THE HEAT? RELIEF IN SIGHT!

People who have experienced discomfort caused by the combination of an unusually warm spring and malfunctioning air conditioning system can take heart. According to Robert Hanes, director of engineering services, progress is being made to correct problems with the I.F.-2 system.

"Whenever new equipment is installed, there is a period of time during which trouble shooting takes place to get all the 'bugs' out of the system," Hanes said. "For approximately the first 500 hours of operation -- which will be up in late July -- new air conditioning equipment is especially sensitive to adjustment and repairs. We are now approaching 500 hours of use in I.F.-2, so the equipment should stabilize."

Hanes said the College is working closely with manufacturers of the equipment, and indicated the situation is improving.

"We hope to provide the service that was intended when the system was installed. There were some problems, and they are being resolved."

Construction crews have started the renovation of Wickes Hall, and work is progressing on schedule, according to Director of Engineering Services Robert Hanes. The first phase is removal of existing partitions and other structural components to clear the way for the new design elements. The demolition is about 80 percent complete on the first floor and 25 percent finished on the second floor, Hanes said. He asked that people avoid entering Wickes Hall except as necessary for work-related activities. Hanes indicated the north entrance has been removed from service and the south door should be used only by handicapped people who need access to the elevator. "The building has been posted as a construction area, and we ask your cooperation in entering only when necessary to complete College business. Please utilize the east or west doors and reserve the south door for the handicapped."

LIBRARY EXHIBITS

Two exhibits currently are on display through July in the Zahnow Library.

On the first floor is the "China Experience." The exhibit features toys, clothing, pins and other items from China. John and Myrna Cammin of Saginaw Township spent two years in the Tanggu on the Bohai Sea, near Tianjin, the third largest city in China. The Cammins were employed by the Boehei Oil Co. where they taught English listening and speaking to adults. The display will be up through July 25.

On the second floor is an exhibit of Bay County plat maps of the 1890s. The maps provide the names and outline of property owned during that time. The maps were donated by Glen F. Schultz of Kawkawlin. The exhibit will remain on display through July.

According to Jack Wood, archivist, the displays are an attempt to introduce patrons to the special collections/archives department.
