MSN PROPOSAL GETS FUNDING BOOST, AWAITS BOARD APPROVAL

The federal department of Health and Human Services awarded SVSC nearly $400,000 in start-up costs for a master's of science in nursing program. The proposal now awaits Board of Control approval. The Board will consider the proposal during its Oct. 12 regular meeting.

The funding cycle begins Oct. 1 with $117,089 for preparation, according to Dr. Robert S.P. Yien, vice president of academic affairs. During the second year of the program, fall 1988, the College will begin admitting students. Funding for the second year is $125,462. The final phase of the program includes $131,946 from the grant. The grant's total value is $374,497.

Yien said approximately 15 to 20 students would be admitted in each class. These would be part-time students. Yien said since most students would probably be employed within the nursing care profession, it would take most, if not all, students four years to complete the program. Thirty-nine credit hours are required for completion.

The MSN program will emphasize theory and management science. Very little clinical work is involved, since most will have obtained that experience at the under-graduate level.

To be admitted to the program, students must have a 3.0 grade point average as an undergraduate and must have worked at least one year as a registered nurse.

Yien said the MSN concept started during the 1980-81 academic year. He said the program was in the College's long-range planning document for that year.

"Actual preparation began three years ago," Yien continued. "Dr. (Crystal) Lange was instrumental in initiating the outside funding."

Yien said the addition of the program to the College's curriculum would not place a burden on the general fund. After grant monies are exhausted, the College would be responsible for supporting one additional faculty member through the general fund. Yien said workloads of the 14 current full-time instructors and the additional faculty member would be re-adjusted to accommodate the undergraduate and graduate programs. He said the shifting is possible because of changes in enrollment patterns in the nursing program.

According to the program proposal drafted in April, the purpose of the MSN program is to prepare registered professional nurses for leadership

. . . The proposal for the MSN degree program is based on results of a needs analysis coordinated by Dr. Sachiko Claus. The study was reported in her doctoral thesis, which received the Outstanding Dissertation Award from the Michigan Association for Adult and Continuing Education.

. . . Three primary groups were surveyed: Registered nurses, current SVSC nursing students and potential employers of MSN graduates. Among the findings: area health care providers are willing to provide support for the MSN program, and there are vacant positions awaiting MSN graduates.

. . . The analysis also used the task force group and the social indicator methods. Four task force groups were established: community, nursing faculty, College-wide faculty and SVSC nursing alumni. Each group conducted meetings using Nominal Group Process. The social indicator method included demographic, socioeconomic and health related statistics.

roles in nursing practice and education settings. Within the program, students may select one of two functional roles: client-care manager or education. The graduate program builds on the foundation of concepts and skills acquired in the baccalaureate program in nursing.

Program objectives include acquiring advanced concepts and knowledge from nursing science and supportive disciplines to develop advanced nursing practice and role development as well as acquiring a foundation for doctoral study.

NURSING'S CLAUS NETS HONOR

Dr. Sachiko Claus, assistant professor of nursing, was named Outstanding Nurse Educator by the Cabinet on Administration and Education. Claus will receive the Michigan Nurses Association award Oct. 6 in Dearborn.

Claus' name was submitted by Dr. Crystal Lange, dean of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences. Lange cited Claus' contributions to the school's basic concepts course, including putting the course within a theoretical framework and providing students with quality learning experiences.

"She has demonstrated personal and professional growth by teaching fulltime while pursuing doctoral education as well as certification as a gerontology nurse," Lange wrote. "She has provided leadership to the faculty, students and the profession as she pursued a feasibility study to determine the need for an MSN program at SVSC."

Among the criteria nurse nominees had to meet were demonstrated expert leadership ability in nursing education and contributing to the knowledge base of the profession.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR MINORITY BUSINESS CONFERENCE

BIDI is offering full-paid scholarships to three SVSC minority students for participation in the Oct. 27 conference, "Minority Business: Now and the Future." Applications are due Oct. 5.

The purpose of the conference is to promote the startup and development of area minority businesses. The targeted audience also includes existing minority business owners.

Dave Bing, former member of the Detroit Pistons and chief executive of Bing Steel Inc., will be the luncheon speaker.

Selection guidelines for scholarship recipients include self-confidence; drive and determination; commitment to long-term, future projects; goal setting, flexibility and the ability to take initiative. For further information, contact the BIDI office at extension 4048.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN IN OCTOBER

The 1987-88 United Way Campaign is in progress throughout the area. Members of the campus community soon will receive a mailing that includes a pledge form and related materials.

Dr. John Fallon, who is chairing SVSC's solicitation, asks that you watch for the mailing and return the pledge form, even if you decide not to contribute. Those who do pledge may choose a method of payment and may specify whether their contributions should go to the Bay, Midland or Saginaw county division of United Way.

Last year, 59 SVSC families received services from United Way agencies.

SAGINAW VALLEY ENTREPRENEURS TO DISCUSS MARKETING

The Saginaw Valley Entrepreneurs Club during its Oct. 14 meeting will discuss marketing and strategies for the future. The meeting begins at 6:45 p.m. in Lower Level Doan.

Stephen B. Vogt, director of the Small Business Center of the Manistee-Mason Community Growth Alliance, will be the guest speaker. Reservations are due Oct. 9 to the office of BIDI, extension 4048.

MINORITY MENTORING KICK-OFF DINNER SET

The Minority Mentoring Kick-Off Dinner is scheduled from 4:30 to 6 p.m., Oct. 12 in Lower Level Doan.

Dr. Roosevelt Ruffin, principal of North Junior High School in Saginaw, will be the keynote speaker. Reservations are due Oct. 7 to Campus Activities, extension 4170.

LIBRARY EXTENDS HOURS

Through December, the Zahnow Library will extend its Saturday hours and remain open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

In addition, the Audio/Visual center will be open until 7:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. According to Clifton Jones, director, the hours will become permanent if they are found more convenient for library users.

HONORARY DEGREE NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Each year at Commencement, SVSC awards honorary degrees to individuals of special distinction. President Jack M. Ryder is soliciting faculty and professional staff for nominations of deserving people for an honorary degree.

Ryder will take selected nominations to the Board of Control in December. He indicated that nominations should include supporting documentation.

Honorary degree recipients should exhibit one or more of the following characteristics: a record of outstanding achievements in one's vocation or avocation, possibly including national or international recognition; strong support for higher education; special distinction in the activities designed to improve the quality of life; and philanthropic support for education and, in particular, for SVSC.

WOMEN ALIVE CONFERENCE FEATURES FEMALE AUTHOR

The third annual Women Alive Conference, sponsored by Saginaw General Hospital, will feature Teresa Bloomingdale, author and humorist. The conference will take place Oct. 1 at the Saginaw Civic Center.

Bloomingdale's books include "Murphy Must Have Been a Mother! (And Other Laws I Live By)" and "I Should Have Seen It Coming When the Rabbit Died."

The conference's theme is "Generations of Caring" and features sessions about aging, protecting children, eating disorders, death and adolescent depression and suicide.

The event takes place from 12:30 to 9 p.m. For further information or to register, call 771-4547.

BOARD OF CONTROL COMMITTEE HEARS PROPOSAL INFORMATION

At a meeting of the newly formed Academic and Student Affairs Committee, members learned about proposals on an AIDS policy, a substance abuse program, potential changes in admissions standards and a new Master of Science in Nursing program.

Since the committee is advisory in nature and includes only four Board members, the presentations were informational only. Committee members were asked for their input on the policies under consideration. The MSN program approval will be included on the Board's Oct. 12 agenda for action, but policies on AIDS and on substance abuse can be implemented by administrative action.

The AIDS proposal calls for establishment of an AIDS Council that would meet to review information and to plan educational programs on the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome disease. Board member Braun urged administrators to be "very careful" about protecting confidentiality of any person who might be infected by AIDS.

The substance abuse policy is slated for further review and refinement before implementation, but includes more stringent sanctions against underage drinking. It also prohibits all use of controlled substances except in prescribed therapeutic doses.

Three slightly varying proposals on changed admissions standards are under review, and open forums will be conducted before any final policy is recommended, members were told.
