SVSU Alumnus Named Director of Affirmative Action/Multicultural Programs

As an undergraduate student at SVSU, Craig Tatum was vice president for Student Government, an All-American in track who achieved a third place national ranking, president of the SVSU Black Student Association and an R.A. in the residence halls.

Beginning February 20, Tatum will return to his alma mater in his new appointment as director of affirmative action/multicultural programs.

"This position gives me the opportunity to give back to the campus things it has given me," Tatum said. "For me, SVSU was a positive experience. I learned how to work with people and how to maximize potential."

Tatum's selection from among 40 applicants concludes an intensive search following the death of Dr. Roosevelt Ruffin in late 1994. In his new assignment, Tatum will continue efforts to achieve a multicultural learning and working environment at the University. His duties include oversight of policies and procedures to insure compliance with Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action regulations.

A lifelong resident of Saginaw, Tatum is active in many community organizations. He comes to SVSU from Saginaw Public Schools where he has served as the director of Project SUCCESS —

Saginaw Unified Community Creating Excellence and Student Support. The program focuses on helping "at risk" students stay in school while avoiding drugs and other social woes.

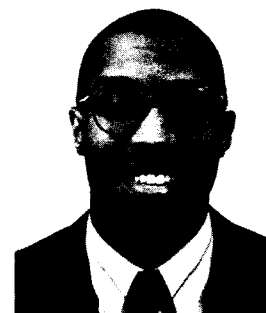

Tatum says the neighborhood is a different place for children today. "The pressure to succeed is much greater. With the support of a mother and father, you had the needed support. A lot of these young people are raising themselves."

His previous professional experience also includes working as school resource officer for Saginaw Public Schools between 1988 and 1991. Prior to that, Tatum held positions with Bay County Juvenile Home, Saginaw County Juvenile Center and Boyssville of Michigan.

Tatum, who earned both baccalaureate and master's degrees in criminal justice from SVSU, has conducted training sessions for numerous organizations concerned with youth and neighborhood improvement.

"We see an emerging talent with leadership potential," said President Gilbertson. "He is a loyal alumnus. As a student, he was as active as he could be."

Tatum's approach in his new position will be to provide opportunities for people "to develop an appreciation for the talents each group has."

Empty Bowls Project Added to Valley Festival of the Fine Arts

A humanitarian gesture is being added to SVSU's Valley Festival of the Fine Arts this year. Between now and the March 18 Festival, pottery makers—ranging from first-graders at the Nell Haley Elementary School to students, faculty and staff at SVSU—will be fashioning ceramic bowls that will be sold and filled with soup at the Festival. Proceeds will go to an organization that is committed to feeding the hungry.

The concept is an outgrowth of "Empty Bowls," an international project that combats hunger, according to Michael Panhorst, a member of the Valley Festival planning committee.

"We hope to generate between $500 and $1,000 to feed hungry people," Panhorst said. "Our first goal is to raise as much money as possible. The second goal is to make people aware of the existence of hunger and the third is art education, using creativity to bring about positive social change."

"Bowls will be priced at $5, $7.50 and $10 and sold on a first come/first served basis," Panhorst said. "The organization that will receive proceeds from the 'Empty Bowls' meal has not been determined yet."

ARAMARK, operator of the Bistro and the SVSU Campus Dining Services, will provide soup, bread and water. The meal will be served between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. on March 18. All bowls will be sanitized and enclosed in plastic bags. They must be presented in those bags to be filled with soup.

Sara Clark, studio art technician, conducted a bowl-making workshop for SVSU faculty, staff and students on February 4. Several advanced art students also provided assistance to bowl makers.

As in past years, the 1995 Valley Festival of the Fine Arts will include the Fine Arts Fair, the Fun Arts Factory, tours of the Marshall M. Fredericks Sculpture Gallery, and a series of performances by vocalists, instrumental musicians, dancers and orators.

The Department of Communication and Theatre's run of The Secret Garden also will coincide with the Festival.

More details on the Valley Festival of the Fine Arts will be published in an upcoming issue of The Interior. For more information on the Empty Bowls project, contact Panhorst at ext. 5698.

Six Area Musicians to Perform with the Valley Wind Quintet

The Valley Wind Quintet will be joined by six members of the Midland Symphony Orchestra wind section when the group presents a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, February 12 in the SVSU Theatre. The program features works by Cambini, Francaix, Ligeti and Janacek.

"Cambini's Quintet is a light, Mozartean work that utterly belies the composer's colorful life, which, among other things, included having been captured and sold into slavery in the Middle East," according to Quintet member Drew Hinderer. "Ligeti's Six Bagatelles, on the other hand, is a set of rather darker, more intense variations, the last of which represents a chase, complete with terrified prey and barking, snapping dogs."

"Both the Francaix Nine Pieces Caractéristique and the Janacek Lachian Dances are scored for double woodwind quintet plus contra-bassoon," Hinderer added. "Francaix's Pieces are humorous settings of French salon and dance hall music, while the Lachian Dances include a nuptial dance combined with a kerchief dance, an elegiac dance, and finally Dymak, the blacksmith's dance. This colorful music is suitable for audiences of all ages and tastes."

The musicians who will be joining the Quintet are Deanna Popielarz, flute; Jennie Bejcek, oboe; Grant Von Wald, clarinet; Paul Lein, bassoon; Tom Zantow, contra-bassoon; and Jan Wollner, french horn.

SVSU faculty and staff should contact the Department of Music at ext. 4159 for a complimentary ticket to the performance.

Study Group Sets Trip to Egypt

Nellie Monroe, associate professor of social work, invites members of the campus community to join a study group for a tour of Egypt. The two-week educational tour runs from August 6 through August 20.

While the trip does not offer academic credit, it will provide opportunities to learn about the history and culture of this ancient land and its people. Participants will leave from Toronto, arriving in Cairo August 7.

The full cost of the tour is $1,870 per person based on double occupancy. For further information, contact Monroe at ext. 4076 or call (313) 868-9359.

Western Brass Quintet Next in Center Stage Concert Series

The Western Brass Quintet, which was founded 27 years ago in Kalamazoo, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 9 at the SVSU Theatre.

The group's members all are professors of music at Western Michigan University. Notable achievements include performances at the Kennedy Center, Carnegie Hall, two International Trumpet Guild Conferences, a tour of The People's Republic of China and more than 100 colleges and universities.

With a commitment to promoting the composition of significant works for brass quintet, the ensemble has premiered numerous works. Among them are Masques by Ramon Zupko, Nodding Music by Elgar Howarth, and Landscapes by Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Karel Husa. Both Masques and Landscapes have been recorded by the Western Brass Quintet on the CRI recording label.

Advance tickets are available by contacting the Office of Campus Life at ext. 4170.

Small Business Services Coordinator Attains CBC Status

Christine Greve, coordinator of small business services for the Business and Industrial Development Institute (BIDI) at SVSU, has successfully completed the Business Counselor Certification Program. Her achievement distinguishes her as one of approximately 15 Certified Business Counselors (CBC) in the state.

To obtain certification, Greve completed a three-part training series offered through the Michigan Small Business Development Center and successfully passed a comprehensive exam. The training included seminars on business counseling techniques, business principles and business planning. Participants learned how to maintain on-going assessment relationships with clients, mastered fundamental marketing, management, legal and financial principles and explored techniques for conducting effective research and formulating a business plan.

Those who meet all requirements for CBC certification are accredited by Wayne State University in cooperation with the Michigan Small Business Development Center.

A Midland resident, Greve joined the SVSU staff in 1994. She has an A.A. from Delta College and a B.B.A. from SVSU.

Dr. Beutler will be retiring at the end of this month after serving for 10 years with distinction and dedication as Executive Director of Development and the SVSU Foundation.
