Marine Dealers Association rewards golfers

For several years, the Bay Area Marine Dealers Association searched for the right location for its annual boat show. Then it found SVSU’s Ryder Center, and a partnership began. During the Campaign for Distinction, this partnership blossomed into a scholarship endowment that would recognize student members of SVSU’s golf team.

The Bay Area Marine Dealers Association Golf Scholarship recognizes the importance of higher education and the contribution of athletics to the total education experience. It is designed to assist members of the SVSU golf team to reach their educational goals.

Hank Lantzit, a representative of the Bay Area Marine Dealers Association, said none of the facilities the group previously showed in or considered were “maintained with the dignity and pride of the Ryder Center.”

“We wanted to give back to the school in appreciation of the opportunity they gave us,” Lantzit said.

“Every year, as I leave the show, I think how I’ve met some really great people who will go somewhere in life. We receive so much help from the students and the staff at the facility. I can’t say enough good things about the students we work with.

“And Joe Vogl is such a great person to work with, and he’s the golf coach, so this is our way to show our appreciation to him, as well.”

The Bay Area Marine Dealers Association Golf Scholarship will provide tuition assistance to student athletes enrolled full time, or new student athletes who have been accepted, at SVSU and are participants, or plan to participate, in the golf program. Criteria include quality of character, potential for participation in and contribution to the SVSU golf program, academic achievement and demonstrated commitment to the game of golf during high school and/or college. They may renew scholarships if the criteria for initial selection are maintained.
"Science and the Visual Arts" to be presented by UNC physics expert

Dr. Lawrence Slifkin, professor emeritus of physics at University of North Carolina, will present two lectures Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 20 and 21. Slifkin will discuss the interaction of physics with the visual arts, and physics and photographic film.

Slifkin’s main talk, which is directed at a non-scientific audience will be from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 20 in the Rhea Miller Recital Hall. There is no admission charge.

During his presentation on “Science and the Visual Arts,” Slifkin will discuss and illustrate ways in which science interacts with the arts. He will explain that science’s contribution to the arts is not simply limited to providing the theories of light, color, and sound.

From 3 to 4 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 21 in 108 Science Building, Slifkin will give a semi-technical talk, “The Physical ‘Impossibility’ of the Photographic Process,” aimed at an audience with some scientific background.

Slifkin is retired from the physics faculty of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N.C., which he joined in 1955. His academic degrees are from New York University and Princeton. While at UNC, Slifkin taught a course on the physics of music, developed and taught a course on science and the visual arts, as well as a number of standard physics courses.

His research has been in the field of solid state physics and he has received several awards for both teaching and research. Slifkin is a Fellow of the American Physical Society and a Fellow of the Society of Imaging Science and Technology. He has served on the Board of Editors of the prestigious physics professional journal, Physical Review B, as well as a number of other government and professional society committees.

Slifkin’s visit to SVSU is sponsored by the American Institute of Physics’s Visiting Scientist Program in Physics, the SVSU Department of Physics, the SVSU Physics Club, and the SVSU Dean of Science, Engineering and Technology.

For additional information on Slifkin’s visit, contact the Department of Physics at ext. 4134.

SVSU sets Annual Fund goal

SVSU’s fundraisers have set a target of $325,000 for the annual campaign that supports scholarships, purchase of library materials and various student needs. The SVSU Foundation and the Annual Fund Committee launched this year’s activities in early October.

New Annual Fund committee members include Warren B. Abbs, consumers banker with National City Bank (Bay City); Thomas A. Braley, certified financial planner with Merrill Lynch (Saginaw); Justin D. Ebel, financial planner with MSB (Bay City); Carol L. Francke with Bay Medical Center; David K. Shuster, chief executive officer, Mutual Savings Bank (Bay City); and Steven G. Welte, vice president of The Plum Agency (Bay City).

In addition to benefitting from federal and state tax deductions for giving to non-profit organizations, donors to the Annual Fund will be listed in SVSU’s Report of Annual Giving.

Credit cards may be used to charge gifts during the campaign, which continues through Dec. 31. For information, contact Norma Gase Zivic, SVSU director of Annual Giving and Development Communications, at ext. 4075.

For the men, the Cardinals’ Richard Buford, Jeremy Miller, Duriel Mask and Vinnie Candela took the 1600-meter relay with a time of 3:24.33.
During this holiday season when the SVSU campus is closed, the Physical Plant Department, in an effort to avoid unnecessary energy costs, is planning to schedule and provide minimum utilities services to all campus facilities as indicated below.

There are three broad conservation measures in which potential energy cost avoidance is achievable in all campus facilities. They are:
1. Reduced space temperatures to approximately 60 degrees Fahrenheit.
2. Reduced domestic hot water temperatures for restrooms, showers, kitchens, labs, etc., to minimum levels.
3. Reduced lighting levels to minimum levels.

All buildings are scheduled to receive all three conservation measures during the holiday break. Those buildings with no known exceptions are:

- Administrative Services Building
- Children’s Center
- Doan Center
- Pioneer Hall
- Residence Halls A to G
- Service Building
- College of Education Building

Those buildings with known scheduled activities and/or other concerns will receive services in the same manner as above with the following exceptions:

- Brown Hall
  Exception: Space temperatures will be maintained at normal levels in all live animal rooms.

- Fine Arts Building
  Exception: Space temperatures will remain unchanged.

- Ryder Center/Cardinal Gym
  Exception: Space temperatures, water temperatures and lighting levels will be maintained at their normal levels for scheduled activities as published by the facility manager. Reductions will occur during times when the facilities are not being used.

- Science Building
  Exception: Space temperatures will be maintained at normal levels in all live animal and plant material locations.

- Wickes Hall
  Exception: Space temperatures will be maintained at normal levels for the Admissions Office for the period it is scheduled to be open.

Direct any concerns and/or questions regarding these measures to the Physical Plant Office, ext. 4080, as soon as possible so concerns can be addressed in a timely fashion. Campus personnel who are concerned about their plants are advised that plants will survive fine in both 60 degree temperatures and without water for the duration that the campus is closed for holiday break.

Here are some suggestions for maintaining plants:
Take them home for the holidays. Water them thoroughly and either leave them in their present locations or take them to 105 Arbury Fine Arts Center on the last working day.

If you elect to use A105, you should label your plant(s). Plants must be picked up before 4 p.m. when campus reopens Monday, Jan. 4. Physical Plant will not be responsible for plant(s) during campus closures.
