SMALL GRANTS PROGRAM IN BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS • SAGE (RUSSELL) FOUNDATION
The Russell Sage Behavioral Economics Roundtable supports a small grants research program to support high-quality research in behavioral economics and to encourage young investigators to enter this developing field. There are no limitations on the disciplinary background of the principal investigator, and the proposed research may address any economic topic. Interdisciplinary efforts are welcome. The maximum budget is $7,500. Representative categories of expenditures include acquisition of data, the purchase of data sets, research assistance (but not including payment to any researchers who will be co-authors on the project), payment to subjects in experiments, miscellaneous expenses (such as xeroxing, telephone, postage). No funds will be granted for researchers' time. No more than $500 can be allocated to miscellaneous expenses. No funds can be spent on computer hardware or software. See http://www.russellsage.org/ for details.
Application Deadline: Ongoing
The Discovery Research K-12 (DRK-12) program seeks to significantly enhance the learning and teaching of science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) by pre-K-12 students and teachers, through research and development of innovative resources, models and tools (RMTs). Projects in the DRK-12 program build on fundamental research in STEM education and prior research and development efforts that provide theoretical and empirical justification for proposed projects. Teachers and students who participate in DRK-12 studies are expected to enhance their understanding and use of STEM content, practices and skills. DRK-12 invites proposals that address immediate challenges that are facing pre-K-12 STEM education as well as those that anticipate radically different structures and functions of pre-K-12 teaching and learning. The DRK-12 program has four major research and development strands: (1) Assessment; (2) Learning; (3) Teaching; and (4) Implementation Research.

Application Deadline: October 16, 2014

Foundation funds exceptional scientific research projects submitted by early-career investigators of nutrition therapy, metabolic support, and related clinical nutrition topics. For 2015, there are four large grants of up to $25,000, and one of up to $16,600, plus two small grants (up to $5,000). See http://www.nutritioncare.org/wcontent.aspx?id=784 for details.
Application Deadline: September 8, 2014

NEW AND ESTABLISHED INVESTIGATOR GRANTS • SCLERODERMA FOUNDATION
Supports basic research on scleroderma, including studies by new and established investigators carried out on a molecular, cellular, animal, or patient level. New Investigator Grants ($150,000/three years) are for promising new investigators with faculty positions who wish to pursue a career in research on systemic sclerosis. Established Investigator Grants ($150,000/two years) fund innovative pilot studies. Annual deadline is 9/15. See http://tinyurl.com/o8zzb3w for details.
Application Deadline: September 15, 2014

TRANSLATIONAL PROGRAMS IN LUNG DISEASES (PO1) • NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
This program invites PO1 applications from institutions/organizations that will perform collaborative, translational research with the goal of using mechanistic research as the basis for the rational design of clinical applications to improve prevention, diagnosis and/or treatment of lung diseases and sleep disorders. See http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/pa-files/PAR-14-245.html for details.
Application Deadline: September 22, 2014

BRIDGES TO THE BACCALAUREATE PROGRAM • NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
Supports partnerships between two-year and four-year colleges/universities to facilitate the transition (R25) of underrepresented minority students into baccalaureate degree programs in biomedical and behavioral sciences. The goal is to increase the pool of two-year college students from underrepresented backgrounds who go on to research careers. Specific aims must be based on a self-assessment that is consonant with the overall goals and objective. One application per institution. See http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/pa-files/PAR-13-333.html for details.

DISSEMINATION NOTICES

SVSU – TEN Project • FY 11
Elizabeth Roe, Professor of Nursing, was awarded $72,000 by the Michigan Department of Community Health for the SVSU Technology in Education for Nursing (SVSU-TEN) project. The focus of this project was to increase the use of simulation in nursing education at SVSU, therefore decreasing the reliance on clinical agency sites. Equipment purchased for simulations included a Sim Junior Standard, Sim Junior Advanced, and Poverty Simulation Kit, which allowed for the development of a new simulation course that is included in each of the five semesters of the undergraduate Nursing program. This course was implemented in Fall 2012, and has made it possible for the SVSU nursing program to rely less on scarce clinical site while promoting learning in a safe environment. Students in other departments programs, such as Occupational Therapy, have also benefited from the purchasing of the simulation equipment.

Survey Details Faculty Work Habits
A new survey conducted by Boise State University (BSU) (Idaho), found that faculty are working an average of 61 hours a week, often on weekends, with much of their research activity conducted on their own time. BSU sent surveys to 550 faculty members requesting information on their work habits and interests, including how much time was spent writing grants and conducting research. Though only 30 faculty members responded to the survey, the data indicates that nearly 17 percent of the work week and 27 percent of weekend work was devoted to grant writing and research activities.

New GRC Resources Available
GRC is pleased to announce that two new features have been added to the website’s Resources page:

•The Annual Deadlines “button” allows GRC members to see a quick list of programs in GrantSearch that have the same deadlines (or no deadlines) each year. This feature will help members to best plan for proposal submissions for over 400 programs across the agencies, especially the National Institutes of Health and National Science Foundation. Members can also find these programs among discipline-specific searches by typing “annual deadline*” in the text field of GrantSearch.

•The electronic Funding Search Form offers support from GRC staff when members need assistance with performing searches. This feature was developed to be used as a third search option, if needed, after GrantSearch and Faculty Alerts. Members must use an “edu” email address to send searches directly to the relevant program advisor team.
