

SE&T Colloquium Series-Winter 2013

Speaker	Professor Mike Mosher Department of Art
Title	Art and Science, Here and Now
Abstract	In this talk, Mike Mosher, Professor of Art/Communication and Digital Media, explores the contemporary interface of art and science. Whereas the two arenas of research were in communication in the 15th through 19th centuries, they were pushed apart until the last decades of the 20th. Professor Mosher will focus on work in this century to investigate some exemplary works of artistic attention to the processes of biology and genetics, information, robotics and virtuality. Noting the work (as artist and author) of the late Prof. Stephen Wilson, inspiration to his own, Professor Mosher proposes ways that we might encourage dialogue between the two spheres at SVSU.
